IT Project Services

Using a framework that is replicable and robust, we undertake IT Projects on your behalf that are designed to provide you with proven technology solutions that meet your business goals.

This service is particularly valuable when you don't have the skilled resources needed to deliver on these projects yourself, or if you would like to engage with a proven partner to ensure that costs don't spiral, that the project remains on schedule and that it meets the agreed specifications.

Our experienced team work hard to identify your business needs, before coming up with an agreed plan and project scope. Our team then take you through the entire project life cycle to successful completion and review.

Example IT projects include:

- Server migrations and server virtualisation.
- Private, Hybrid and Public Cloud migrations.
- Office and IT relocations.
- New site openings.
- Unified communication rollouts.

IT Project Service Benefits

You enjoy a better return on your investment.

Complex IT projects can be delivered quicker and with less disruption to your business, which means that you can start using and taking advantage of your new IT solution sooner. This leads to a better return on your investment.

Your business enjoys improved operational capabilities.

You can be sure that your new project is going to bring about the change that you need to make your more competitive in your industry, helping you save money, increase your productivity and transform your business.

Your IT project is delivered on time, to specification and on budget.

You will find that, as a business, you are more aware of the strategic value of your data and information flows. This will help you run your operations more efficiently and will give you an improved competitive advantage, while helping get you out of a reactive pattern of responding to issues in an ad hoc way.

You have reduced risk and reduced costs

By engaging with expert engineers who have a lot of exposure to and experience delivering similar projects for other customers, you are less likely to be affected by unforeseen issues that could potentially impact your IT project. The upfront cost may be higher than if you used an internal resource, but the time saved and the hassle avoided will mean reduced costs for you and your business.
